

Hey there, my name is Jennifer.

I'm here to talk about Motionify, an award-winning video production company.

Did you know that according to HubSpot, 72% of people would rather use video to know more about a product or service?

And by just having a video on your website increases the intent to make a purchase on your website by 97%.

At Motionify, we make creative, impactful and well-produced videos for our clients to help improve sales and increase awareness of their products and services.

Since 2017, we've worked with startups and legacy companies across the world to deliver explainer and promotional videos, product demos and videos for marketing campaigns.

So if you're in need of a kickass video, click on the contact us button on our website for a free consultation.

I promise you, you'll be happy you did it.